

A Re Yeng Roadworks

Intersection Closure of Bloed Street

22 January - 30 January 2015

The A Re Yeng project team is currently constructing its bus lanes throughout the inner city. As part of this process the intersections need to be reconstructed. The contractor will commence construction of the Paul Kruger and Bloed Street intersection on Thursday, 22 January 2015. The works will continue until 30 January 2015.

Motorists should please utilise the following diversions:

Accessing the inner city:

Motorists coming from the north of Pretoria can turn left into Boom Street and then right into Thabo Sehume Street to access the inner city.

Exiting the inner city:

Motorists exiting the inner city are urged to use either Bosman Street or Lillian Ngoyi Street due to the road works on Paul Kruger Street.

From east on Bloed Street:

Motorists travelling west on Bloed Street can turn left in Thabo Sehume Street, then right into Johannes Ramokhoase Street. The motorist can then continue eastbound or they can turn right into Bosman Street to access Bloed Street again.

The City of Tshwane and the A Re Yeng Project Management Unit thank you for your cooperation during the construction period. We are aware that the traffic disruptions are causing frustration and we are doing our best to complete construction within the area. We also want to take the opportunity to advise motorists to adhere to the speed limits and traffic signage during the construction phase. They are implemented for the safety of the motorists and the workers on site.
